

Southeast MO Hotspot – Cape Girardeau

Discovering Employment Trends with Local Employment Dynamics (LED)

Cape Girardeau is an economic and employment center for the Southeast region of Missouri. This report details the workers and industries that make this place a hotspot of economic activity.

Southeast Employment Hotspots

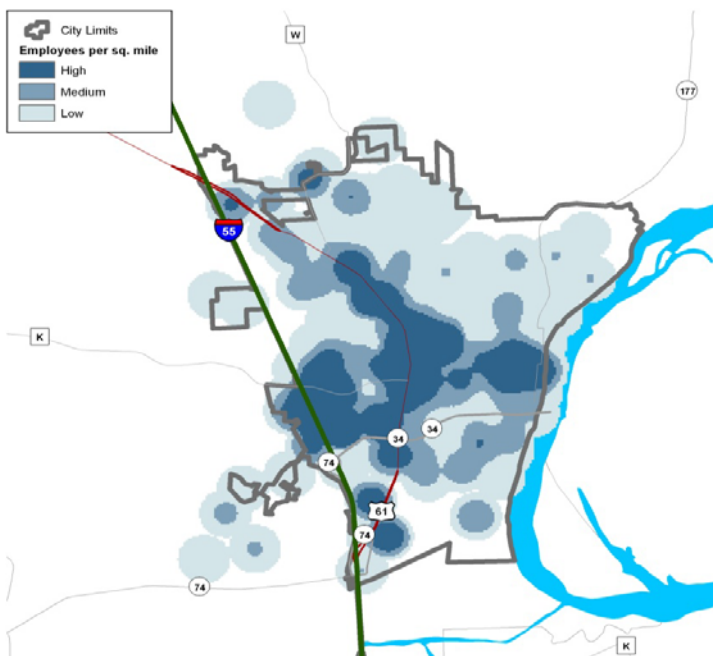

Cape Girardeau, Farmington Sikeston, and Perryville form the largest concentrations of employment in the Southeast Workforce Investment Area. Workforce Investment Areas are the result of the federal Workforce Investment Act of 1998 (WIA) which funds a number of employment and training programs across the nation.

In 2009, 40% of all workers in the Southeast region were employed in the cities Cape Girardeau (25.5%), Farmington (11.6%), and Sikeston (9.9%) which is up slightly from 2002 when the percentage was at 37%. Other cities in the Southeast WIA with 4,000 or more jobs are Dexter City, Jackson City, and Kennett City.

Growing Community Serving the Region

Cape Girardeau is a growing community whose daytime population more than doubles the evening population on a daily basis. The city has two state of the art hospitals that serve over one million people from five states. These hospitals serve as a reason that 28% of the city's jobs are in the healthcare & social services sector. Cape Girardeau is also home to Southeast Missouri State University with over 10,000 students. The city's jobs have grown at nearly the same rate as its population over the past seven years.

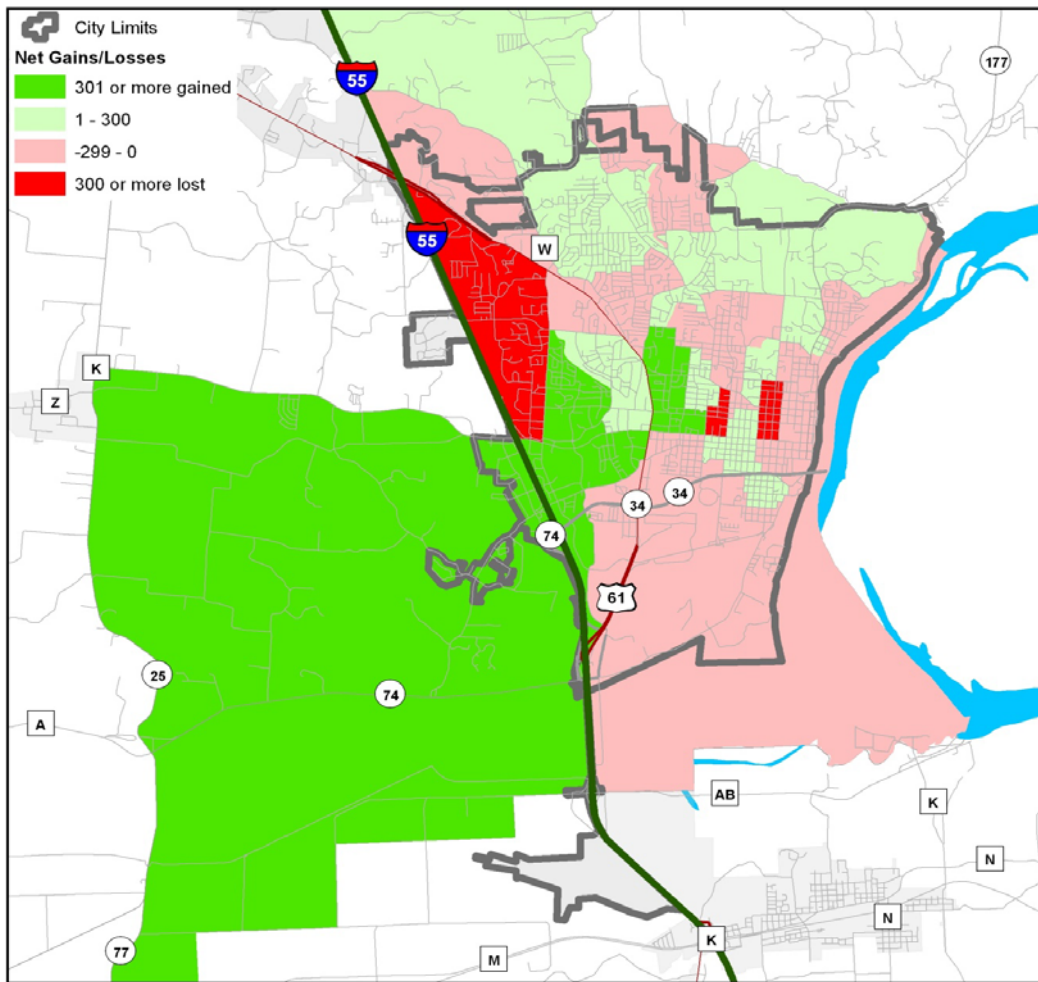

LED On-the-Map: Where Cape Girardeau Workers Live

Cape Girardeau grew jobs by 9% from 2002 through 2009. The majority of Cape's workers continue to reside within Cape Girardeau County, although that number has dropped 10% over the same timeframe. Making up for the loss, however, were most of the other surrounding counties. Scott County residents working in Cape increased 23% during this time. Bollinger County increased 37% and Perry County jumped by 30%. Nearly 1,000 St. Louis County residents worked in Cape Girardeau in 2009 which is nearly identical to the 2002 total.

Growing & Shrinking Industries

Health Care & Social Services was by far the top employing Cape Girardeau sector in 2009 with nearly 8,000 workers. The Goods Producing sector lost about 35% of its jobs during that span, with workers from Cape Girardeau and Scott Counties making up the majority of those losses. The Trade, Transport, & Utilities sector lost only 3% of its jobs overall from 2002 through 2009. Cape Girardeau residents working in this sector declined 35%. However, nearly every other nearby county increased its total workforce to the city's employment sector by 20 to 80 workers to help make up for the substantial loss in Cape Girardeau County workers.
